

The Elite 63 is one of Spectus' leading products. Following extensive research in technology, legislation and thermal efficiency, the Elite 63 is a complete suite of component parts, which enables the design, manufacture and installation of a full range of window door and conservatory components, all from the same system. This attention to detail provides simplicity in design and fitting for your installer and unrivalled style and choice for you. Plus results in a consistent aesthetic finish throughout your property.

Key features

- Chamfered designed profiles create a consistent finish across all areas of your property
- Market leading multi chambered profile provides increased thermal efficiency
- Post Co-Extrusion (PCE) Flexible gaskets are securely pre-fitted to the profile during manufacture to prevent any shrink back through ageing. This provides extended performance and keeps your windows in optimum condition for longer.
- Glazing options from 24mm - 36mm providing a choice of thermal and acoustic solutions
- Complete system with a full range of aesthetic accessories such as Georgian Bars
- The Elite 63 shares common details with Spectus' Patio doors and Reversible 70 products resulting in compatibility across all product ranges, providing you with more choice and a consistent finish
- Spectus profiles are extruded in accordance with BSEN9001:2008 and kitemarked under licence BSEN12608

Efficiency - together, we're doing our bit

Through continuous evaluation and improvements in design and quality testing, we have devised a suite of products that maximises the retention of solar heat gain within the property, whilst minimising any thermal and air loss. And because our systems are designed to provide high levels of energy efficiency, you'll benefit from reducing your carbon emissions and the ability to lower your heating bills.

Spectus is good for the environment

- Our windows and doors provide an outstanding barrier against heat and noise loss - even in the most extreme weather conditions.
- Windows and doors made from PVC negates the use of timber, protecting the planets trees.
- We recycle our own waste and generate new products whilst still retaining the highest standards in quality of material.
- Our windows and doors do not require painting and therefore don't consume additional harmful materials or generate associated waste.
- Our entire manufacturing process - from production to installation - is confined to the UK and Ireland thereby minimising transportation and fuel consumption from wider exportation.
